

Hello

We are Naomi and Meredith, the founders of Pottymouth Workshop, delivering affordable, fun and relaxed pop-up pottery classes in Bristol, Bath and the South West.

Our workshops teach hand-built pottery (so no need for a pottery wheel), with session outcomes ranging from mugs, bowls or vases to butter dishes, jugs or even pet bowls.

We're proud to have hosted numerous sold out events with overwhelmingly positive feedback.

Hosting workshops for up to 50 people, this is the perfect way to get creative with your co-workers, handcrafting a mug for the office or souvenir you can cherish for years to come. If this is something you are interested in, please get in touch for a chat. We would be delighted to speak to you.

Reviews

Truly such a lovely experience - everyone drinks out of their mugs at the office now! Thank you both so much

Mez + Naomi were brilliant from start to finish. Cool girls with a cool concept + super fun to be a part of. They got everyone relaxed and comfortable + had lots of fun exercises to get the creative juices flowing before we got stuck in. As a beginner I felt super looked after + the girls were able to answer any questions along the way. 100% recommending + 100% coming to the next workshop. Thanks again ladies, big love.

We had such great time I wouldn't change a thing!

Such a great evening, in a great venue. Naomi and Mez were so helpful and friendly, and the actual process of making the mugs was great fun. Would absolutely do it all over again, and will definitely be back for another workshop with them.

Naomi & Meredith explained the process and broke everything down into clear steps. They made everything appear so gracefully simple (spoiler, that's years of experience).

To my surprise, I created a mug which actually looks like a mug.

It's not just an abstract mug shape. No advance warning required that it's a mug.

It's a usable mug; my mug.

On top of that, I had a great time.

All of that is testament to Naomi & Meredith's skill and care.
